

Leaders in wet area partitioning & locker systems

FOR SUPERIOR STRENGTH & SERVICE

PROUDLY MANUFACTURED IN AUSTRALIA BY CENTRAL TABLELANDS COMMERCIAL INDUSTRIES

THE WATERLOO® STORY

Filling a gap in the market

The Waterloo® wet area partitioning system was introduced by Eisse Woldhuis who identified a gap in the market for customised, modular partitions that were suited to all environments.

He sold his successful kitchen manufacturing business and started Central Tablelands Commercial Industries in 1999 to design and manufacture these systems primarily for Laminex® in Australia.

Over the past ten years his company has experienced remarkable growth. What started as a small manufacturing business has grown into a large operation with sales representatives servicing all eastern states and the pacific region.

Launch of the Waterloo® Brand

In 2007 the company started marketing its range of products under the Waterloo® brand to meet increasing demand from builders, architects and interior designers for a customised manufacturing service.

Its product range is based on providing stylish, modular solutions for wet areas that can withstand moisture and the wear and tear of public use. Its products include shower and toilet partitions, quality locks and hinges, lockers, slat seating, vanities and tables.

Designing for the future

The Waterloo® design and service team understands consumer need for adapting partitioning systems to different washroom environments. Their product knowledge and advice, combined with installation experience is invaluable, even down to the choice of colour, which can impact on how a product performs in a high use area.

Its Compact Laminate Premier Design in 13mm Compact Laminate or 13mm Innovations is the ultimate in privacy, style and finish. It is supported by an economical range of designs in 18mm or 33mm Laminex® Structural Board in contemporary colours or timber grain finishes.

Other design features include a choice of overhead brace designs and floor mounts including basemount and box section.

All Waterloo® partitioning comes with Avanti superior locks, hinges and coat hooks. Waterloo® provides a life-time guarantee on all its installations. Its partitioning boards are covered by a seven year warranty.

“Because we design, customise and manufacture our own products in Australia we can guarantee quality of service, delivery and workmanship.”

- Eisse Woldhuis, Managing Director

Putting your needs first

Its sales team can quote off a detailed plan or provide an on-site inspection to develop a solution that makes the best use of available space.

Its manufacturing business customises partitioning systems to specification with the product quality controlled from design to manufacture.

This is the basis of its success combined with manufacturing excellence and fast turn around from order to delivery.

All orders are shipped from its factory in Bathurst, NSW, to arrive flat packed with ready to install instructions. Alternatively, Waterloo® can provide an installation service if required.

Precision cutting and finishing

Waterloo® systems are manufactured by its parent company, Central Tablelands Commercial Industries (CTCI) which uses the latest in technology from its pricing system through to the factory floor where state of the art machines provide precision cutting and finishing.

The manufacturing company is now expanding to meet future demand creating employment opportunities within regional Australia.

Committed to Excellence

In 10 years Central Tablelands Commercial Industries has built a loyal team of employees that demonstrate a pride in both manufacturing and product design. Its commitment to excellence is driven by its success to succeed as an Australian manufacturer servicing both iconic brands and the building industry. CTCI is a quality supplier of wet area partitioning systems for Laminex® Australia.
